DETAILED ACTION

The following is a first action on the merits of application serial no. 10/772,849 filed on February 5, 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. (e) as being unpatentable by Badillo et al ('009). Badillo et al discloses a engine (10), an automatic shifting manual transmission (18), an electronically controlled clutch (via 5) connecting the engine and transmission, a controller communicating with the engine and clutch to generate an engine load (engine torque) signal based on an engine load required during launch of a vehicle, adjusting a spark timing (Figure 3) of the engine prior to engagement of the clutch (Figure 4 shows determination for clutch fully closed engagement last on flow diagram), the spark timing being adjusted based on engine speed rate change (dN_e/dt) and can be continually adjusted after clutch engagement for engine speed decreases (i.e., fuel cut), a clutch sensor (6) generates a signal based on position of clutch and the controller generates a load signal for the engine when the clutch signal is received (i.e., engine torque capable of being increased when clutch is engaged), a controller (40) receives engine speed signals and pressure signals (via 26, 28) to generate the load signal, a controller (20) receives gear ratio signals which determines the load (how much engine load is needed to provide the ratio) wherein the control of Badillo et al is based on a shift signal to launch the vehicle wherein the clutch should be disengaged..

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Submission of your response by facsimile transmission is encouraged. Group 3600's facsimile number is (703) 872-9326 before final and 703-872-9327 after final. Recognizing the fact that reducing cycle time in the processing and examination of patent applications will effectively increase a patent's term, it is to your benefit to submit responses by facsimile transmission whenever permissible. Such submission will place the response directly in our examining group's hands and will eliminate Post Office processing and delivery time as well as the PTO's mail room processing and delivery time. For a complete list of correspondence not permitted by facsimile transmission, see MPEP 502.01. In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check.

Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (MPEP 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being facsimile transmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office (Fax No. (703) 000-0000) on _____ (Date)

Typed or printed name of person signing this certificate:

(Signature)

If your response is submitted by facsimile transmission, you are hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and MPEP 502.02). Please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
